The BC Government made some very significant announcements this week calling for greater attention to educational programming where there is a real need by industry. Technologists and Technicians are in high demand generally and for this reason the Government is including technical skills in addition to trades in their messaging.

“ASTTBC has been supportive of the BC Jobs Plan from the very early days,” said ASTTBC CEO John Leech. “I am confident this new direction by the BC Government will lead to enhanced programming in engineering and applied science technology.”
