

ASTTBC Supports CME Deputy Minister Dinner

ASTTBC is encouraging interested members to attend the 13th Annual Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters (CME) Deputy Minister and Key Stakeholder Dinner on February 12, 2015 at the Pan Pacific Hotel in downtown Vancouver. ASTTBC members may attend at the CME member rate of $125.

The dinner provides an evening of positive business networking in a format that sees the Deputy Ministers rotate among the tables with the arrival of each new dinner course. This dinner format enables the CME members and partners to become a natural conduit to the Deputies which gives them an opportunity to test some of their public policy ideas and responses within a relaxed and informal atmosphere. This year other key stakeholders of the BC manufacturing industry, including Crown Corporations are invited, to make the networking opportunities even richer for CME members and partners.

ASTTBC has signed an agreement with CME to link the interests of the two organizations especially as it applies to technology education and careers.
