

ErinPatrick Williams, RCSO Receives National Award

ErinPatrick Williams, RCSO a senior member of the ASTTBC Construction Safety Officer Certification Board received a National Canada Life Saving Award on October 28th for his skill and professionalism in life saving actions. He is credited with saving a man's life after he had suffered a heart attack and was not breathing.

Mr. Williams began CPR and administered several shocks with an AED, which revived the patient allowing him to be transported to hospital for further care. ErinPatrick credits his training and the role that mandatory Continuing Professional Development plays to ensure skills and competencies are always current and effective.

All members of ASTTBC wish to congratulate ErinPatrick Williams, RCSO for his high level of professionalism and skill in an emergency.