

ASTTBC Leaders Chat With Saskatchewan Minister of Advanced Education

While attending the Saskatchewan Applied Science Technologists and Technicians (SASTT) 50th anniversary celebration dinner, ASTTBC President Keith Trulson (right) and CEO John Leech (left) spoke with the Minister of Advanced Education, Scott Moe, who was the guest speaker at the special event.

The Minister has oversight of the Saskatchewan Technologists and Technicians Act, a platform for the three to exchange notes on the role of technologists and technicians and their contribution to Saskatchewan's economic development. The professional recognition and practice of technologists and technicians proved an interesting, albeit brief, conversation with the Minister.

The Saskatchewan and BC associations are working to serve the public by regulating and enabling full practice rights of technology professionals.
