

Camosun VP & ASTTBC CEO Meet on Tech Education

John Leech (left) presented John Borass with an eagle feather carved out of cedar by Salish artist Len McKay

Camosun College (Victoria and southern Vancouver Island) Vice President, Education, John Borass met recently with ASTTBC CEO John Leech to talk about technology education at the College.

They spoke about accreditation of technology programming through the newly formed Technology Accreditation Canada (TAC) and the great working relationship that exists between Camosun leaders (including faculty and staff) and ASTTBC. The Women in Technology programming was discussed as was the engagement of Aboriginal youth in tech programming. Both organizations wish to see improvements in both these areas.

The two tech champions considered the possibility of formalizing the linkages through a memorandum of agreement.