

June 2013

ASTTBC Service Award to Okanagan Instructor Barry Brooks

Out-going ASTTBC President Bill MacPherson, AScT (L) presenting Service Award to Barry Brookes, AScT, CHI, RRFA(L), PEng

At the 2013 AGM Barry Brooks, AScT, CHI, RRFA(L), PEng was honoured with an ASTTBC Service Award.

Barry Brooks first became interested in construction techniques working on Northwest Territories construction crews and as an Engineering Undergraduate in the Civil Engineering labs of the University of Calgary.

As well as a Technologist, Barry is an APEG BC Professional Engineer with 35 years' experience, as well as an ASTTBC Technical Specialist in Property Inspection and Reserve Fund Analysis, providing training in that specialty area.

Barry is Director of Education, Western Pacific Property Inspection Institute, which provides professional education in advanced inspection topics, commercial inspection, strata depreciation reporting, and related fields.

His practical experience includes Engineering Design and Construction Support, Inspection and System Commissioning, Maintenance Engineering, and Project Management in Pulp and Paper, Gas Pipelines, and construction both large and small.

Currently Barry is a director on ASTTBC's Council AND an instructor at Okanagan College.

Barry's Award was mentioned in the recent Okanagan College Newsletter.