BC Building Code: Public Review

You are invited to participate in the public review for the 2011 BC Building Code. This public review focuses on recommended variations from the model 2010 National Building Code.

The purpose of this public review is to gather feedback on 14 variations that we are recommending. The feedback you provide will be considered in the development of the 2011 BC Building Code expected to take effect in the fall of 2011.

The opportunity to participate in the public review will continue from November 9, 2010 until December 21, 2010.

The online public review is hosted through the Building and Safety Standards Branch website and may be accessed through the following link:

If you have any questions, please contact Jarrett Hutchinson, Codes Administrator, at (250) 356-8163 or codequestion@gov.bc.ca.

Please feel free to forward this invitation to any of your colleagues who may be interested in providing feedback.

The Building and Safety Standards Branch wishes to thank you in advance for contributing to BC Building Code development process.
