On March 8, Council Director Richard Cave, ASCT, participated in the College of Applied Biology's 2013 Conference and AGM, held in Victoria. This well attended event focused on legislative changes and professional practice as it applies to professionals working in the area of applied biology. The conference ended with a panel discussion on professional collaboration and working with other professionals. Richard was fortunate to be able to represent ASTTBC on the panel with other professionals from APEGBC, CAB, ABCFP and BCIA.

“The session went well – Richard was great. A lot of positive feedback overall but I will take heed for next year and schedule the panel for earlier in the day as people really wanted to dig into the discussion and we had to cut it off. The AGM and conference were a success... a big success overall.” noted Pierre Iachetti, PAg, RPP, MCIP, Executive Director of the College of Applied Biology
