

A Call for Infrastructure Spending: ASTTBC Weighs In

While ASTTBC does not profess expertise in economics, the Association monitors the views of others in the field and considers their perspectives.

"In reviewing a McLean's article by David Dodge I believe it is timely to make note of the considerable investment needed in Canada's infrastructure," said ASTTBC CEO John Leech. "Whether municipal services and highways, energy resource projects of various forms, investment in technology for delivery of learning, expansion of access to high speed Internet or a myriad of other important and timely projects, it seems to make good sense that we invest in capital projects when the cost of borrowing is at record lows."